ABOUT UNE

The University of New England (UNE) was the first Australian university established outside a capital city. With a history extending back to the 1920's UNE has a well-earned reputation as one of Australia's great teaching, training and research universities. Many graduates of UNE have gone on to hold senior positions around Australia - and overseas - in business, government, education, research and community development.

UNE has maintained its unparalleled reputation for excellence by again achieving a five-star (maximum) rating for 'Graduate Satisfaction' in the 2017 Good Universities Guide.

Graduates also awarded UNE academic staff five stars for their teaching quality. A five-star rating in these categories means that UNE students rated their university experience better than students from 80% of other universities.

Off Campus

For students who would prefer to live off-campus, UNE can assist in finding shared accommodation, private board and local rentals in Armidale.
